Caravan Park flood damage specialist

Flooding can happen at any time and climate change is making it frequent and widespread. At Jones Caravans, we understand the damage this can do to business owners. We have a specialist team who will respond to these incidents quickly, ensuring that all flood-damaged caravans are removed effectively and safely. After that, we also leave your plots ready to place the new units.

Dedicated rapid response flood damage team

Exclusive contracts with parks and insurers

A safe and effective full clean-up service

Transparent pricing

A process compliant with environmental guidelines

On-site servicing and repair insurance estimates

We offer a call-out service for any emergency need you may have with your touring or static caravans. Our team of trained and experienced engineers will visit your site, assess the repair or service you need, and give you transparent prices. We also provide estimates for insurers on any damage to touring or static caravans.

Buying of unwanted caravans static homes

Jones Caravans partners with caravan sites across the UK. We buy and remove damaged and unwanted caravans. We provide you with a transparent price of the whole process and work from removing the static home, clearing the site, and getting it ready for the delivery of a new static home.

The work we do at Jones Caravans is guided by the values we uphold

The environment is our friend

At Jones Caravans LTD, we are registered members of environmental agencies and other green organizations. We also see to it that we recycle the materials we collect back to the caravanning market. These are parts of our initiative to ensure that all of our services fall within environmental regulations. We focus on giving our customers great results, but we're equally invested in protecting the environment.

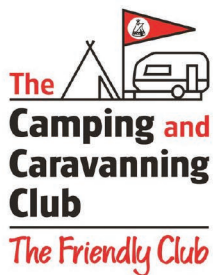

The community is worth investing in

We believe that when our communities thrive, we all thrive. With this, we roll out a number of initiatives to help the communities we live in. We have a day of activities and barbecue for our site owners and managers to get together. We also connect local parks with each other to let them get to know each other and share ideas. Finally, we always try to hire locally to provide people in the area with career opportunities.

Our customer's satisfaction is our priority

We understand how unprofessional static and touring caravan services can cost businesses money, time and unnecessary worry. Our expert technicians take that worry away by implementing service level agreements with our partners. We deliver a high-quality service and make sure that the work gets done according to your needs, budget and timeline.
